JOSEPH FRENCH REVIEWS CONVENTION WORK

The taxpayers are keenly interested in the new Educational Act, and the Standard has requested the Chairman Joseph French to give a report of the Convention from his viewpoint, which should prove intensely interesting to all who have the welfare of the school system at heart.

There were nearly 1200 people in attendance, the largest convention ever held. The reason for such a large number being there, was on account of the proposed change in the rural school system.

I would like to mention a few facts and points of Prof. Ootewell's address which I think important.

He above all else, stressed the present position of secondary education in the rural districts, and showed how the City and County Schools are having to carry the burden of educating the country children without proper financial remuneration. In the city of Edmonton, within the last two or three years, the proportion of money spent on secondary education rises from 4 to 12 per cent. It is now costing the city $211 per technical student and $125 per high school student. By law they are allowed to collect $30 for each high school student.

What is to be, the solution of this ever increasing burden? First he suggests that grade XII be excluded, and finally that there will be no accommodation for non-residents. Something must be done to provide secondary education for the rural children. Prof. Ootewell proposes Residential High Schools at suitable locations. Proper fees must be charged on a larger taxing area is imperative.

As a help to secondary education in the country, Prof. Ootewell suggested every town in Edmonton will broadcast lectures, and the schools by installing a radio, can listen in at a price by same. He finally said that the high school system must be overhauled to fit in with rural conditions.

In a conversation with Prof. Ootewell later in the day, he expressed the opinion that Residential High Schools should be established to the same extent as agricultural schools, and that the same should be by the government in the same way.

In the afternoon we were addressed by Hon. Perrin Baker, Minister of Education. He gave a very fine, clear and precise statement of his proposed re-organization of the rural school system. This was practically the same as published in pamphlets issued to school boards a short time ago. He, however, explained in more detail some of the points in regard to taxation.

Following his address there was an immediate request by many of the delegates for a period to ask questions. This was granted, and as far as possible, the speakers gave satisfactory answers, but the time taken up was much longer than had been anticipated, so the chairman had to close down on the question period and throw the meeting open to general discussion.

It was very evident then as to why there had been such a tremendous number of Trustees attending the convention. One after another spoke of the Minister's proposed scheme, until finally there was so much noise and disturbance that the chairman lost control of the meeting, and it became impossible for anyone to have a chance to say anything without being shouted down, and finally at six o'clock the meeting was adjourned.

Many who were against the proposal managed to get a hearing, but those who spoke it had practically no chance to speak.

To me it was quite evident that the majority of delegates were there to kill the proposal, and on the following morning, I understand, it was done in a most emphatic manner.

The speakers who seemed to stand out most of all as far as I could discern, was fear that the new scheme of taxation would increase the school taxes, and secondly, local boards would be deprived of much of their power.

During the discussion many spoke of the rural needs of secondary education. Until the new scheme is adopted, the rural school boards will not be able to do this, but even though the country people want this additional education for their children, they do not wish to pay for it.

However, I gathered that the delegates would not be too particular if more inspectors were appointed, and more frequent inspections made in the schools, many of the present troubles would be eliminated.

Canadian Legion Members Make Presentation

At the meeting of the Canadian Legion on Thursday last, the members chose that an opportunity to present Comrade W. S. Paterson, their popular and efficient secretary with a tangible expression of their good will and appreciation for his untiring work in the interests of all the members, and his almost constant service of the bar, an instance of which was manifested at the last Ban dinner held in Calgary, when he received quite an ovation.

As a judge of the district court Judge Winter frequently visited Strathmore.

MIAMI, Feb. 27.—The Sharkey Striking fight was a most interesting one, and resulted in a decision for Jack Sharkey.

At the end of the ninth round

In the tenth Sharkey came through and won this round and the decision.

The John Deere Hockey Club, of Calgary, will play the local team on Thursday night at 8.15. This should be a good game.

The Late Judge Winter

Editor, Strathmore Standard

I should like to add a word of appreciation to what has appeared in the City papers from judges, lawyers and friends of the late Judge Winter. Judge Winter endeared himself to many members of the bar, an instance of which was manifested at the last Ban dinner held in Calgary, when he received quite an ovation.

As a judge of the district court Judge Winter frequently visited Strathmore.

Readers in the surrounding districts are especially invited to send us news. We want to cover the whole Bow Valley. Make the Standard Your Home Paper.

Weather Creates Crop Scare

CHICAGO—A terrific upheaval in grain prices came last week. Wheat and rye soared to new tops for the crop year, while corn also made record gains. Abnormal cold weather in Europe, where the winter wheat crop is known to be in jeopardy owing to the lack of snow covering and the lowest temperatures recorded in hundreds of years, furnished the impetus that stimulated the grain market. Some grades of wheat were 7¢ higher in future, while futures at Winnipeg also upward in a fashion to treasury shorts.

That May wheat will sell at $1.20 per bushel, and rye at $1.30, or higher, seems certain.

Unquestionable damage to winter wheat, caused by a succession of sleet storms and zero weather followed by sudden thaws, is the probable basis for one of the greatest crop scares the grain market has known in the last 12 years.

Just how high prices can be located before and after the first general crop report is not known, but it is April 1st, when the speculators who were privy to the amount of enthusiasm and support that can be won in a good speculative cause.

Conditions are almost similar to those of 12 years ago, when conditions even less severe than those experienced by the wheat belt since early December started the great war time boom in wheat, and eventually produced the shortest winter wheat crop in many decades.

Conditions are just ripening for another bullish demonstration such as came last year but which got strangled by the market. The market had the advantage that was supposed to carry it above two dollars per bushel.

The breakup of the big bull market in stocks has caused plungers to look elsewhere for speculative opportunities.

Grains are to be had and underlying conditions are so fundamentally bullish that a big drive is almost certain to come before long.

Two years ago we were told that wheat would sell at $1.00 per bushel, and the market hasn't come closer to 16¢ to this figure on the present crop. That suggests the advisability of getting long some wheat and corn and riding to prosperity before the market gets to 16¢.

Corn and rye seem most attractive. World developments indicate a complete reversal of last year's bearish conditions.

The ice carnival and bonfire dance arranged by the Strathmore Elks and held last Friday evening provided an evening of varied and keen enjoyment to the world that bread made from the flour of No. 6 wheat is fit for human consumption.

The members of the Saskatchewan Royal Grain Inquiry Commission resumed their sittings here this morning. W. D. Summers, farmer of Dooland, appeared, and brought a number of loaves of bread made from flour from Nos. 2 and 6 wheat. He explained that the committee of the members of the U.F.C. local at Dooland had been appointed for the purpose of "offsetting the propaganda which seems general in the province that No. 6 wheat is not fit for human consumption when made into bread."

He stated that the committee had watched the two classes of wheat unloading and followed the procedure right through until the bread was made.

"I have eaten this kind of bread myself," continued Mr. Summers. "I have found much inferior bread in many cafes and hotel dining-rooms in this province." To clinch his argument Mr. Summers produced a slice of bread from one of the local restaurants and submitted that his "No. 6 bread" was far superior. The commissioner, amid laughter, appeared to agree with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheatley, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weller, Mr. and Mrs. and Miss E. Walters of Supersafe enjoyed the excellent hot chicken supper put on by the Chancellor folks in the school on Saturday, February 16th. The supper cards were plenty sold and Miss Walters carried home a bridge, the second. The proceeds of the evening were for the benefit of the Elks Band.

There were costumes of varied and many sorts, like Joseph's coat of many colors, Artistic, comic, original, practical, hard times, "spooky"; also costumes picturing different nationalities, and different employment, for instance Miss Calypso, and those who went to the Foothills Estate, while another young lady was garbed as a pirate. The ensemble made an exceedingly gay and pretty picture on the ice. The judging was done by the members of the Canadian Skating Club.

Mr. Ambrose Bay won the automobile.

The dance at the Memorial Hall attracted a very large number, and the band was excellent.

The orchestra was in good form, and the many guests were in a merry mood, and all enjoyed an evening of happy frolic.

"MEN'S BETTER WEAR"

CALGARY MUSEUM
CENTRE OF INTEREST

Within the last few years in Alberta there has been a great awakening of interest in art and education. Especially is this so in the Fine Arts and to a lesser degree in Natural History. It is only natural that with this movement should be a desire on the part of the Calgary Museum as the function of a museum is to act as an exhibition and storehouse of knowledge.

The museum was first established in 1910 by a small group of citizens who had only begun to develop when the outbreak of the war virtually put an end to all such activities. It was then housed in the basement of the Court House where it continued to operate under various auspices until it was finally closed in 1926.

At the close of 1927 it was handed over to the City of Calgary when Lt. Col. J. H. McLean, then in command of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, handed over the building and under his able and energetic management it was moved to much better quarters in the Travellers Building. Here the collection has been renovated and rearranged and the nucleus of an Art Gallery added to it.

On entering the door the visitor finds himself in the art section. Here besides a small permanent collection are exhibited, loan collections which are changed from time to time. Some 3000 among the numerous pictures are eight studies of Blackfoot Indians done by Kathleen Shaileton at Gleichen in 1927. In the centre of this room is a case containing a collection of coins and Indian money.

The remainder of this room is devoted to Natural History specimens with the exception of three cases of Indian relics. Here we have a collection of birds numbering about one hundred and thirty species, nearly all from Alberta. The reader may be surprised to learn that this represents about one-half the number of numbers of birds found in this province. Here also is a small collection of reptiles and fish and a case of marine specimens; shells, corals, etc. Finally there is a magnificent specimen of the ancient woolly Buffalo which in life weighed 2000 pounds.

Descending the stairs one finds another large room. Here with a large variety of other Alberta mammals is a group of the Prairie Buffalo, a small group of the elk, a group of sixty-one inches, and a spruce group of two white-tailed deer mounted as captured, locked in a struggle to the death.

In the centre of this room is a case containing a small collection of mammals and birds, mostly from Northern Alberta and the Rockies. Notable among these are the bones of the great Dinosaur from the Red Deer River. The museum also possess a small but very fine skeleton of a bison which however has not yet been placed on exhibition.

Arranging the room we pass two cases showing the various manufacturing processes, and a large collection of brilliant tropical butterflies. Finally at the end is one of the old Red River carts used by the early pioneer in the west.

If space permitted I should like to give a more extended account of the many fine specimens. However, this short article may serve as an inducement to visit the museum which is located in the Travellers Building on First Street East. We hope to build up this collection so that in time we may have a full representation of the natural life and history of Alberta and a fine art gallery. Every Alberta citizen may help in this work by sending in any interesting specimens which may come into their hands, and we are always ready to give information about these to anyone interested.

SPORT NOTES

AMERICAN TRAINER REFUSED LICENSE

CHICAGO—Advises from London indicate that Bert Mitchell, the chief was denied American champion and who accompanied that racer to England has been refused a trainer's license. Following the usual custom, the English solons voiced no reason. Al though John Hertz, owner, well favorably known on the British unit is the accredited trainer.

The announcement came as a severe shock to the Hertz interests seems well attested by the hallyhoo broadcasted and indicating that a "break was now imminent" between British and American Turf.

Harking back to the "break" it is our, humble opinion that far as this incident is concerned there is just as much as the gentlemen who control the sport in England and those who have the best interests of racing at heart in America as a gasoline car through hedges. The bottom line is that they are disinterested. Also there are places where you cannot "muscle" in.

Canadian fans generally are with Maple Leafs against Maroons in their playoff struggle. The Montreal team is not far behind the Maroons outside of second base, they have the best infield in either league, a good outfield, a strong pitching corps and a better catching staff that they have been accustomed to start the season with.

Bill Terry will be back at first, Travis Jackson at short and Fred Lindstrom at third and no recruit is going to baffle him even then. The Jays of Cleveland or Toledo is a band third and first and Eddie and Eddie Marshall of Dallas and Baxter Jordan of Toledo have shortstopping aspirations. The big question mark at second base is the seeming to lie between the two players, Cohen and Resnick and both probably will have plenty of opportunity to play.

In the outfit looks like Leach, Ott and Welsh, and Resnick can count on Tom Koenig as a third baseman. He has a good bat, he has a good sense of hitting, may stick around and Welsh may also win a substitute berth, but there doesn't seem to be much chance for Charles Fuller, recalled from Toledo. Kaufman and pitcher Bill Vass will run him for a tough combination.

Riley Benten, Fred Pfitzmann,

Joe Genewich and Carl Hubbard are likely to be taking turns at the helm of the team and their bat may not measure up to the batters.

That is to substitute mound material that McGraw must hustle. There are Dutch Henry, Bill Walker and Garret Mackay on the staff, and the last named is the organization's artist.

John "Ogden" and Harry Kelly who have been up before, the veteran John Scott, and rookies named Boney, Chaplin, and Pyle with one of the last quartet likely to pitch.

Frank Hoskin will be the first-string catcher, assisted by John Cummins and Bob O'Farrell, joined by Ray Schall, the coach, bound to help out in case of emergency.

The "Midgets" were disgruntled with the work of the Senior team, and are coaxing Manager McParland to take them down and show the Gunners some real heart.

They have seldom shown a broad gauged attitude on any questions affecting hockey, and have sought their own angles diligently with the result that the Leafs, who are now in first place in the league, are to Toronto and are somewhat of a community enterprise, are being brought right along by those who like a change in hockey affairs.

GLEICHEN TRIMS STRATHMORE

The Strathmore Hockey Club which showed the Gleichen Gunners to a standstill in Strathmore, notwithstanding the fading eyesight of the visiting referee, played a return game the Saturday night at Gleichen, and were defeated by the home team. HOW TO LIVE 150 YEARS

NEW YORK. A 48-hour day, laboratory babies, synthetic food-stuffs, a 150-year age limit for humans, and two-hour work days are some of the predictions made by Lord Birkenhead, British statesman, in an article "What the World Will Be 100 Years from Now," in the February Cosmopolitan magazine.

The 48-hour day would be accomplished, according to Lord Birkenhead, by utilizing tidal energy to eliminate the speed of the earth's rotation.

In discussing the laboratory baby, Lord Birkenhead writes:

"The results of this research show that there is a difference between a mother and her growing child is purely chemical. There is no valid reason why one day biologists should not be able perfectly to imitate that chemical connection in the laboratory."

Lord Birkenhead, 81, who is 100 years, he writes, because by 2020 biologists will have learned the secrets of the living chemistry of the human body—or at least enough of it to achieve startling results.

"Rejuvenation will be an ordinary and well recognized matter of a few injections at appropriate intervals," he said.

Joseph French Review Convention Work

When asked directly what course he would pursue knowing the adverse opinion of the convention, The Minister replied that he would go ahead with the Bill and place it before the House. It now remains to be seen what course it will take. On the morning of the City and Town School election was first addressed by Mr. A. J. Watson, of the Leithbridge High Schools, and spoke on the High School curriculum in which Mr. A. O. Hicks, of Edmonton High Schools, and Mr. J. A. McLean, High School Inspector, part.

The main contention was that it was too heavy a load and cannot be accomplished in four years. The result is that too much time is taken up in the first year.

It was pointed out that students with special ability do not get any credit for the high marks they make, which should towards helping them in their teacher units. They also pointed out that as the student stands at present, although the student is a member of the University, they are still units (art and geography) short entrance to Normal. These, they contend, should be made to coincide. The result of this is that the average student could get time in four years, as many parents could not afford to keep their children in High School five years.

It was suggested that three units at least be cut out of the curriculum. The result was passed carrying this. Another important point they brought out was the matter of a student trying to carry over three units when they are already overloaded. Further, the hard-earned student is not in one carry-over subjects, the second and third. This, it is said, adds an overload to the already taxed High School teachers.

Following this discussion, we were addressed by Dr. Carpenter, of the University of Alberta, who said, and I think that more was to be learned from him than any of the other speakers. In his capacity as principal of the Technical School, Calgary, he has an opportunity of meeting many boys who have not completed their high school course. He has found that the average boy turns out of our schools. He gave a splendid outline of his idea of what a boy needs in the way of education to fit him for competition in the world. He stressed the point that not sufficient consideration is given to the type of student or boy coming in to high school, indicating by this that as far as possible the studies should be directed along the lines which fit his particular number here. It's a bit of modernism. Mine is 26." The next day the father went to the Dean to make inquiries about his son's work. The Dean politely asked what his son's name was. "Walter," he said. "He is old and I see you, Mr. Jim, the father of 26." "Congratulations," exclaimed the Dean, clapping him on the back. "I'm the father of 15 myself."

Mrs. J. C. Height received the news on Monday, February 25th, of the death of her mother, Mrs. Bengta Anderson, at the age of 86, at Ulby, boy, Denmark, February 6th.

Little George Gourdin, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gourdin, died on Tuesday afternoon, February 26th, at 1:30 p.m., eight and one-half months old. The funeral was held in Bassano on Wednesday afternoon.

Another interesting point he brought out was the great advance being made today by correspondence courses, and the fact that those could be turned to the advantage of students intended taking up sum a business course while attending high school, and being released from subjects they were not very good at. During this period, they could take correspondence courses in the direction of their teacher. Finally, he pictured the child of the future entering the primary grade, and an immediate record card filled out and following the child from grade to grade, showing his particular attitude and interest, and with his studies at a later period. This would be examined by a vocational expert, who could direct the boy into the work or profession in which he would be most successful.

I hope in the near future we may be able to arrange for Dr. Carpenter to come to Strathmore and address parents and others who may be interested in the future of our children.

It fitted in well enough with the old order of things that the great majority of the people should have little education and less knowledge of the science of government and of personal rights. The law, however, was for the privileged few to whom devolved the whole duty of the business of the State. That order has passed; and the extension of the franchise to every adult in the community has given to the right of self-government to the people. Every man should be equipped to discharge his or her part in the duty of self-government. No longer is the book of knowledge closed to all except the favoured few. Education is now recognized as the common right and the national duty. In olden times, that was the will of the people. Today, it is the will of the electorate to whom the common wealth is and must be handed over. HEARD ON THE STREET

"Is he a good rabbit dog?" inquired the owner after inspecting the animal. "I'll tell you he is," said the woman with pride. "You should have seen the way he went after a ladies' scallop coat."

"Have you ever made a wrong diagnosis, doctor?"

"Yes. I once treated a patient for stomach ache and found out later that he could have afforded an operation for appendicitis."

"Fruty Nurse: 'Every time I take the patient's pulse it gets faster. What is that about?'"

Doctor: "Blindfold him."

Mrs. Higgins: "I have not paid the last instalment on a perambulator."

Shop Assistant: "Thank you, madam. How is the baby getting on now?"

Mrs. Higgins: "Oh, we're all right. It's getting married next week."

"Have you ever driven a car?" Jim Martin asked the lady applicant for a license.

"One hundred and twenty thousand miles, but in her husband, who was standing near by, 'and never had a hand on the wheel!'"

A young woman presented a petition on behalf of a number of the women who sought to bring home to some of the noted transgressors in the parish by personal admonition. Meeting, one day, an old woman who was well-known for her gossiping propensity, the young woman said, "I have borne fruit. You heard what I said about the place where there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth?"

"Well, as to that," answered the dame, "if I 'as anything to say to this—let them gnash their teeth as has 'em—I ain't!"

Mrs. Skinner: "John, I wish you'd drop into the cleaner's with my dress on your way to the office."

Household: "Well, well, my dear. I'll drop it in with my finger and then I'll be sure to remember!"

"Harry," called the fair before the young man, "will you promise to her?" "I don't want to think that you are marrying me for my money."

"That goes double," responded the young man. "I don't want you to think—so either!"

"That's enough out of you," said the burglar to the loquacious woman. "If you so much as open your mouth again I'll shoot!"

"Say, follow," put in the mook-looking man, "I had a moment's silence. Now, much will you charge to stay here by the month?"

Housewife (entering and seeing the mook): "Good evening, downeast."

"Good heavens, Madge, what's this?"

" Didn't I leave you the instant I sent money for the collector?"

Wife: "S—sh! I'm going to pay them as soon as they get it down. I decided to have the piano in front parlor!"

ENORMOUS DIVIDEND FOR STANDARD OIL

—o—

CHICAGO.—In the midst of the battle of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to wrest control of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana from Colonel Robert W. Stewart, Chairman of the board, the directors of the $920,000,000 corporation have declared the greatest stock dividend cash dividend in the company's history.

On the basis of the closing market price of $96, the company split up among its 58,000 stockholders the huge sum of $44,160,000 in cash dividends, about $750 added to the sum of the cash dividend, $15,191,475.

What the directors actually did was to declare a stock dividend of 50 per cent, and immediately following this a cash dividend of $1.12 1/2 was declared on all capital stocks, the new half-share stockholders. This indicates the regular dividend, 62 1/2 cents, and an extra dividend of 50 cents.

M. D. BOW VALLEY RATEPAYERS RATIFY BUILDING BY-LAW

The electors of M. D. Bow Valley in no uncertain voice expressed their viewpoint in regard to the necessity that exists for a new Municipal Building.

The vote 68 to 29, not a large one, however, but is a very fair expression of public opinion, considering that in only one division was there a contest for the position of Councillor.

The necessity for a new building really created, and was generally recognized by all who took the trouble to investigate.

The building, while giving the needed fire protection, will be quite an addition to Strathmore.

The Reeve and councillors, upon the proposal of again subdividing the building to the taxpayers, had the latter in endorsing the by-law, each and all to be congratulated.

RURAL SCHOOL FINANCING

The interest in Rural School problems continues to grow, and the Winnipeg Free Press discusses some of the questions as follows:

If rural schools in the western provinces have had something of a "Topsy" upbringing so far, it would appear that they are now in a governmental attitude. British Columbia is the latest province to announce amendment to its School act.

Under the bill now before the house and sponsored by the minister of education, the rural school trustees in each school district will be compelled to contribute not less than three cents on the dollar toward teachers' salaries.

British Columbia's system of financing her schools seems to have more merit than those of all the provinces, but, as in the case of all the schools were provincial schools and the teachers received their monthly cheque from Victoria. The province also paid the trustees for school maintenance. Then the provincial treasury budgeted the amount at its increasing budget, the four towns of Victoria, Victoria, Westminster and Nanaimo, were informed that they could look after their own schools, the provincial government giving only a small grant.

The system was extended to cover other towns, although the grants to these others has been larger than to the places mentioned. In 1901 the rural school districts were divided into those that had an assessed property value of $150,000 and those that had less. The former were to pay for their schools but the latter got a grant from the government. Two hundred districts had no school rate as the minister pointed out when presenting his bill, and several had as low as one cent a month. On the other hand, in the cities and in the districts the school rate was thirty mills and over.

In view of the opinion sometimes expressed that Manitoba should finance all its schools from the provincial treasury, British Columbia's history has points of immediate interest.

Minor legislation covered in the British Columbia bill includes a provision intended to induce teachers to remain in the pioneer districts. After two years' continuous service they may receive a grant of $100, and the question whether this reward is to be in the hands of the government or the local trustees board. One would think that since it is to be a recognition of continuous service it should be paid when the teacher leaves, but the bill is not "a ready" Manitoba has a provision for an increased grant of the board where the teacher remains in continuous service, 15 cents per day for the second year and 25 cents for each year thereafter. There has been a complaint that the words "continuous" and "second year" are misleading for the medal as the "meanest" have been sorted out through their retaining this extra grant and not passing it along to the teacher.

After this in the western provinces and British Columbia make up for school trustees and it will be impossible for a man and wife to hold office as trustees on the same property rights.

Just which is to hold them is difficult to say to the satisfaction of the reader. Mr. MacEachern's bill for the teachers provides for a special office attached to the department whose business it will be to see that living and social conditions in rural districts are suitable for rural teachers are ensured, are suitable.

In the meanwhile the argument goes merrily on in Alberta over the Hon. Perin Baker's proposal for wider powers in school administrative purposes. In response to an overwhelming vote, refused by an overwhelming vote, to endorse it, declaring that it could take away the measure of home rule. Mr. Baker, however, stoutly announces his intention of introducing his bill into the present session of the legislature.

Advertised Goods Are Lower

ADVERTISING turns over stocks rapidly means that prices in a shop which advertises can be short rather than long.

Of this you may be sure! Prices in a shop which advertises are not MORE than in a shop which does not advertise. The chances are that they are oftentimes lower.

This, also, is generally true: You will find better goods better values and better service in those shops which turn over their stocks rapidly. This means, as a general thing, shops which advertise.

A NOTE TO MERCHANTS

Advertising costs you nothing—it is paid for by the profits on increased sales. Advertising is easy—it is simply saying in writing what you say to the customers in your shop. Turn over stocks quickly, if you would make more money.

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS OF CANADA, LIMITED

that would make it difficult for Canada to buy from the United States the new United States tariff is not yet in force and Canadians need not be stamped off until such time as it is.

The American tariff may force Canada to look for other markets, and in the end might be good a thing as the American tariff in the end.

The penalty was a severe one, especially for Ontario farmers at that time, but it forced them to look for other markets, and through that effort the dairy market in Ontario was won.

Canada makes it difficult to export to the home market, especially to the United States, but the production requirements, he states, "but the production has not declined on account of these importations." Noting that there has been some disappointment in the fact that the exports have not increased as they were expected to a few years ago, he says: "But the progress of the dairy industry should not be judged by its exports. It is the production of milk in the country, and there is more milk produced in Canada now than ever before."

The Herald might also profit by taking note of the views of Dr. J. A. Ruddick, commissioner of the Dairy Division of the Department of Agriculture. "The outlook for the dairy industry in Canada," said Dr. Ruddick, in an interview in the Farmers' Sun about a month ago, "never looks brighter." He put the production in 1928 at 255,000,000 lbs. which, he said, "Canadian butter prices" said Dr. Ruddick, "often vary from world prices. Today they are some three cents higher than world prices. We have more cows than ever before."

There doesn't seem to be anything in the butter situation over which Mr. Bennett, the Halifax Herald, and other like agriculturalists need to worry, we are told. Butter has been higher than ever before and sold it all at home because domestic prices were higher than world prices. There does not appear to be any reason to complain because we did not export any butter. As for the imports that appear to have been needed to fill out the deficiencies of the native supply.

says that Canada's butter production is normal. A decrease in the West he attributes simply to the large wheat crop lately gathered and the fact that successful wheat growers do not make good dairymen. Regarding the new United States tariff he says that imports of butter, he says that this does not mean that butter production is on the decrease; it simply means that it is not increasing as fast as the home consumption. Canada makes it difficult to export to the home market, especially to the United States, but the production has not declined on account of these importations."
